Technical Appendix

B&A

Sample Size

The results of this opinion poll are based upon a representative sample of 935 eligible Irish voters aged 18 years+.

Fieldwork

As such, the results can be deemed to be accurate to within plus or minus 3.3 percentage points at the 95% confidence level. Fieldwork was conducted on an in-home, face-to-face basis over the period 1st June to 13th June 2023.

Location

The sample was stratified across all constituencies at 125 locations in the country with individuals selected for interview by way of Demographic Quotas (age, gender, socio-economic status) in line with Central Statistics Office (CSO) and market research industry population estimates.

Weighting

The subsequent survey results are weighted to reflect the known demographic profile of Irish adults, utilising the most recently published census population estimates from the Central Statistics Office (CSO).

Party Support

Party support levels are subsequently realigned in accordance with a technical adjustment factor, designed to smooth the effects of extreme highs and lows in support levels for individual parties as measured at a single point in time, and taking variable election day turnout levels into account.

Guidelines

All aspects of the survey, including the Party Support adjustment factor, are implemented in accordance with the technical and ethical guidelines set down by the Association of Irish Market Research Organisations (AIMRO) and the European Society of Opinion & Market Research (ESOMAR).

Party Support Adjustment Factor: Technical Note

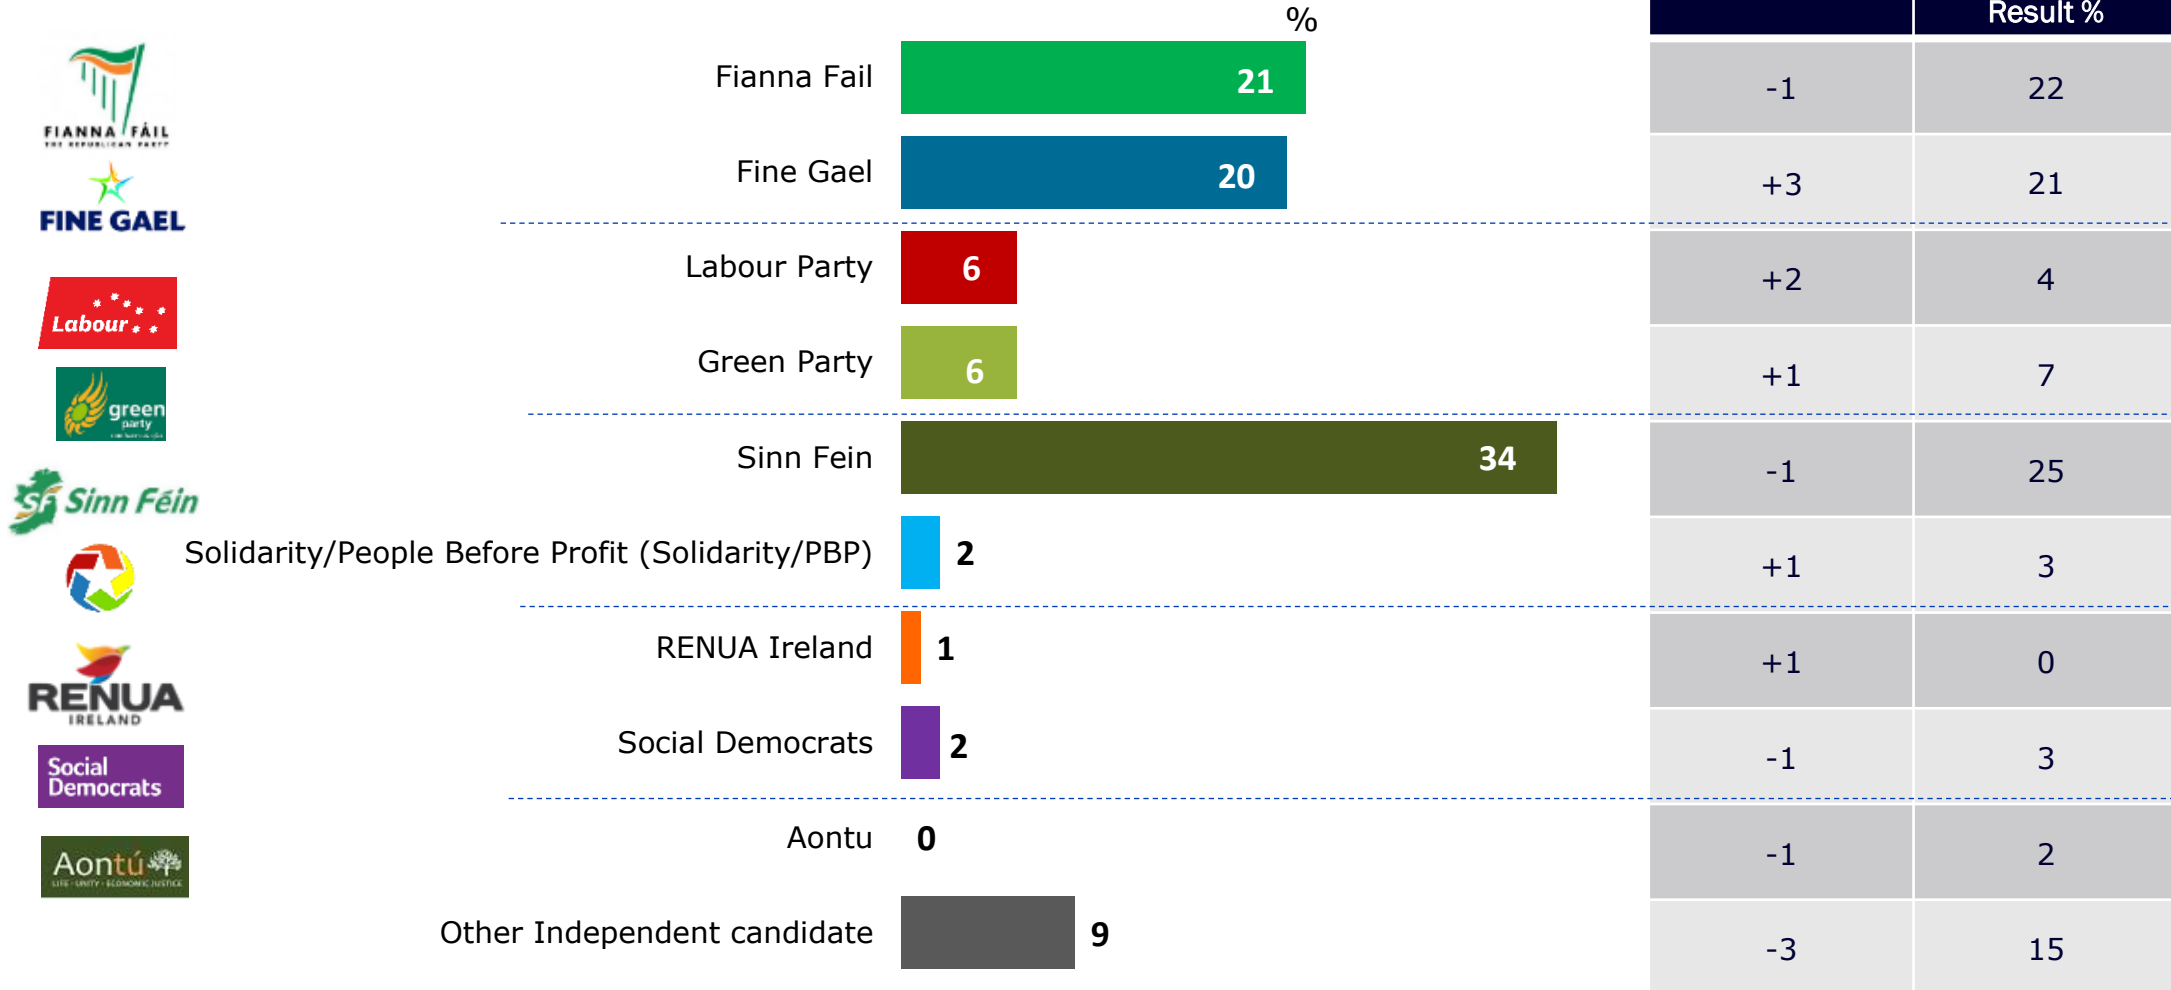

- Predicting election results on the basis of poll data is not an exact science. All the evidence shows that support for individual parties can swing dramatically in the period between elections- very often outside the bounds of historic election results.
- What to do in these circumstances? Most polling companies in Britain and Ireland publish their raw survey results as an index of fluctuations in the emotional mood of voters. They also build in an adjustment based on a number of factors. Where we have reports of how people voted in the last general election as well as how they intend to vote in the next one we can use these data to model the likely level of swing from the last election results.
- We then add back in the forecasts of voters who have not voted last time or do not answer that particular question.
- Finally, we take into account each individuals stated likelihood of voting in a forthcoming General Election.
- This is the basis of the adjusted voting forecast in Behaviour & Attitudes polls.

Sunday Times/Behaviour & Attitudes Opinion Poll Series

Background

- The fieldwork for this Sunday Times/Behaviour & Attitudes poll was conducted between 1st to 13th June 2023.
- As we entered field, there was much talk of the recent Census results, showing clear shifts in Irish society; we are getting older, less Catholic, and crucially, we are less likely to own our own homes. This comes alongside reports that, although house price growth is slowing, Government spend on housing was more than €80 million behind target in the first 3 months of this year.
- Immigration was a key talking point, with recent EU reforms resulting in potential charges for member states who cannot take a share of relocated migrants from the ‘frontline’ member states. This prompted comments from Michael Martin advocating for a ‘two-tier system’ for migration, stating that Ireland will need to prioritise those landing on Irish soil seeking accommodation, while also financially contributing to countries dealing with those seeking asylum. Meanwhile protests were still a talking point.
- Ireland being at full employment was a welcome respite from the continued inflationary talk. However, people were bracing themselves for further interest rate hikes from the ECB.
- As is almost tradition, the Leaving Cert has brought some beautiful weather. It is amazing how the mood of the nation changes with the weather.

Government and Leader Satisfaction Levels

- The satisfaction levels with the Government have improved, with 39% of the electorate satisfied with the Government performance. This is up four percentage points on our May Poll.
- Currently 53% of voters are dissatisfied with the Government with those in Connaught/Ulster significantly more dissatisfied (62%).
- The individual party leader satisfaction ratings have remained relatively stable when compared to our May Poll.
- Mary Lou McDonald's satisfaction rating has seen the largest increase (3%pts) to 51%, retaining the most popular leader title, with a wider gap forming between her and Micheál Martin at 47% .
- Leo Varadkar's satisfaction level remains at 36%, still some way off his 41% satisfaction rating in January/February 2023.
- Eamon Ryan's satisfaction rating has increased marginally to 29%.
- Ivana Bacik's rating has also seen a marginal increase of 1%pt to 43%.
- As inflation starts to ease, coupled with better weather, people are feeling slightly more positive.

Party Support Levels

- Sinn Féin's party support has seen another drop in support, albeit by the finest of margins, moving from 35% to 34%. Notwithstanding this, they continue to be the most popular party by far. Their support is strongest amongst 18-34 year olds. It has the largest first preference share amongst 18-54 year olds, but it is noticeably weaker amongst those aged 55+ (albeit joint second with FG here) and amongst middle class ABC1 voters (albeit it also leads here too).
- Fine Gael support continues to recover steadily from its April drop with a three percentage point uplift to 20%. They remain slightly off their 23% in February/March 2023.
- Fianna Fáil's level of support remains pretty stable over the last four waves, decreasing by just one percentage point to 21%. However, they too are still some way off their January high of 25%.
- The Labour Party is up two percentage points to 6% support, while the Green Party increases by one percentage point to 6%.
- Social Democrat support drops by another one percentage point to 2%, settling back to more normative levels.
- Other Independents drop three percentage points to 9%.
- Overall, total Government support continues to recover from 44% to 47% (up three percentage points from May), but still some way off their 52% level in February. With interest rates hikes ahead of us and no quick solution to the housing crisis, the Government will be hoping for a 'good' summer.

Questions on Immigration / Asylum Seekers

- Two in three (67%) support asylum seekers coming to live in Ireland. When we cross analyse the results by various demographics and party support some very interesting insights appear. Class divide exists with 72% of middle class voters in support of asylum seekers, with less support emerging amongst more working class (63%). In fact, 30% of more blue-collar voters do not support asylum seekers coming to live in Ireland. We also see that Dubliners are significantly more supportive (75%), with those voters in Conn/Ulster most likely not to support asylum seekers coming to live in Ireland (39% do not support).
- In terms of future party support, Fine Gael (77%), Labour (83%), and Green Party (91%) supporters are more likely to support asylum seekers. One third of potential Sinn Fein voters do not support asylum seekers coming to live in Ireland – significantly more than any other party supporters, which indicates the challenge they need to navigate on this issue.
- When focussing on the support question on close proximity to asylum seekers, we see that support for asylum seekers being housed in the locality of voters drops to just over half of all voters (55%). 62% of middle class voters, and 65% of Dublin voters would support local council or Government providing accommodation for a group of asylum seekers in their housing estate or locally. Significant proportions of blue collar voters (43%), those in Rest of Leinster (43%) and Conn/Ulster (50%) would not support such an intervention in their area. Support is strongest amongst Labour and Green Party and Independent voters. Slightly more Sinn Féin voters would not support such an intervention (45%) as would support it (42%).
- Next we sought to understand the complex issue that is immigration. It is a complex topic that needs to be unpicked if we are to wish to have a fully integrated and diverse society and its benefits. We are only touching on the topic in this poll, but still, it provides some initial foundations for understanding the challenge.

Questions on Immigration / Asylum Seekers

- It is clear that the scale of the influx is a major issue for people, with 3 in 5 (61%) feeling there are too many immigrants coming to live in Ireland. Those outside Dublin, especially Rural (69%) and more blue collar cohorts (69%) are even more likely to hold this view. In addition, while 71% of Sinn Féin supporters hold this view (significantly more than other voters), so too do 59% of Fianna Fail and 62% of Fine Gael supporters – so this is a challenge for all parties.
- 52% of voters are worried that immigration bring an increase in crime – particularly blue collar voters (60%), Farmers (71%) and those in Rest of Leinster (59%) and Conn/Ulster (62%). In addition, half of voters (47%) fear Ireland is losing its personality with more immigrants arriving. This was felt even more by those over 55 years of age (55%), blue collar (53%), Farmers (65%) and those in Rural Ireland (54%).
- Encouragingly 3 in 5 (58%) still believe immigration is positive for Ireland – stronger amongst the middle class (67%) and Dubliners (70%). A sizeable proportion of 29% disagree that immigration is positive for Ireland – strongest opposition is again from more blue collar (36%) and Rural (36%) cohorts. 40% of Sinn Féin supporters would also disagree that immigration is positive for Ireland.
- Finally, half of voters (50%) agree that having immigrants arriving to Ireland is generally beneficial for the economy, with one third (36%) disagreeing and 14% don't know/no opinion. Again Dubliners (65%) are more likely to have this positive view.
- These findings clearly indicate that a meaningful, relevant, and educated conversation around immigrants is required across all parties, in terms of its rationale and potential benefits for Ireland. Given Ireland's history of emigration surely, we cannot have forgotten what other countries did for our people – or have we?
